

CS699 Research Progress Report – Team Situational Awareness

Benjamin Davis

10/31/2024

In the last couple weeks for the project, I have met with Dr. Weger to discuss her research and how it relates to the project. I was able to get several questions answered including the numbering scheme for the language categorization, explanation of the data and how it was collected and use, as well as her dissertation document for my review. In the weeks sense I have been busy with my other class, but I have also been looking at how I could apply this research to an agile scrum environment which is where I am currently working in field.

Next steps for the project will include the following:

1. Research application of the Team SA project to agile scrum
2. Play around with the existing models to determine any additional accuracy that could be gathered from the data
3. Determine how I could collect additional data from an agile environment for use in the project